According to the bulletin, examples of maintaining a place of business in Pennsylvania (and thus establishing nexus) include, but are not limited to: (a) a contractual relationship with a Pennsylvania affiliate in which the affiliate has a link on their website that encourages purchasers to place orders and the affiliate receives consideration for the contractual relationship; and (b) soliciting orders from Pennsylvania purchasers via click-through technology from the website of a Pennsylvania affiliate.

California: It has been reported that Governor Brown has signed AB 155, which goes into effect immediately upon signature because it is an urgency statute.

AB 155 retains Click-Through nexus tax language that may impose tax obligations on out-of-state retailers that (1) have California affiliates that refer at least $10,000 in sales from California consumers and (2) have total gross California sales of more than $1,000,000. However, these tax obligations would not become effective until September 15, 2012, and may become irrelevant if a federal law is passed prior to that date that requires retailers to collect and remit sales tax regardless of their location.

AB 155 has passed the legislature and been sent to the Governor.

8/30/11

California: AB 155 has been amended to include the tax language previously passed in ABX1 28. If the referendum is qualified to be put on the ballot, ABX1 28 could be suspended until next June when it would be subjected to a statewide vote.
